I have enjoyed this training very much and also enjoyed meeting other people and going into breakout meetings with them and listening to their experiences. Also, being with my co-workers in the training was beneficial as it gave us a chance to get to know each other's points of view.

This was a very good training course! It was really individualised to each person and group. Lovely, personable coaches who made us feel so valued when we contributed our experiences.

This course has helped me to identify and improve my leadership style. I am more confident with my communication skills, mastering the art of negotiation and influence others. This training has showed me that, no matter how good we are at leadership, there will always be some obstacles but doing this course will help you to overcome those obstacles and there is always room for improvement.
